Large crowd expected

Village suit sought on unit plan

by BILL HILL

The Arlington Heights Village Board will be asked tonight to file a lawsuit against the proposed Elk Grove Township unit school district.

A large crowd is expected to urge the village to become involved in the controversial unit district proposal, which its opponents say would be detrimental to High School Dist. 214.

"We want to pack the village hall Tuesday night. One way or another, we want the village to get involved," said Gary Snell, president of the Surrey Ridge West Civic Assn.

"We want the village board to know we're very concerned about it and that we think we have the whole town on our side," Snell said.

THE VILLAGE board will meet at 7 p.m. at the municipal building, 33 S. Arlington Heights Rd.

Opponents of the unit school district proposal insist Dist. 214 would suffer through the reorganization because the new unit district would take 42 per cent of its assessed valuation and nearly 27 per cent of its students.

The unit district would combine Elk Grove Township Dist. 59 schools, Elk Grove High School in Elk Grove and Forest View High School in Arlington Heights under one school board and administration. Dist. 59 is one of seven elementary districts now in the Dist. 214 area.

State Schools Supt. Joseph Cronin has ruled that the issue should be decided by a referendum April 9. According to state law, only Dist. 59 residents will be eligible to vote. A bill that would amend state law to allow residents of Dist. 214 to vote in the referendum is before the Illinois House of Representatives. Committee hearings on the question are scheduled for today in Springfield.

VILLAGE PRES. James T. Ryan said Monday he supports Snell's request for the village to intervene in the unit district issue and expects the village board to direct Village Atty. Jack M. Siegel to file suit.

Harris Fawell, an attorney for Dist. 214, said involvement by Arlington Heights would be welcome.

"Any type of friendly support is always helpful," Fawell said. "Any time there is such widespread interest and outside parties take the time and expense to file briefs, the court takes notice."

Press holds reports of Goldwater link to mob

by DAVE IBATA

Sen. Barry Goldwater, his brother and a close friend have been linked to crime syndicate figures in Arizona in reports by an independent team of investigative journalists.

But editors of several newspapers who gave their reporters furloughs to assist in the investigation of mob ties to Arizona politics are debating whether and in what form to publish the accounts.

Among the papers that have held off publication, even though their own staffers were involved in the investigation, are the Washington Star. the Milwaukee Journal and the Chicago Tribune.

Also delaying publication of the 80,000 to 100,000-word report is the Arizona Republic, whose own reporter, Don Bolles, was murdered last June by alleged Mafia henchmen.

Move to cut pot penalty backed

Government officials at every level now are moving the lessen the penalties for using marijuana — a taboo substance once viewed as the starting gate on the road to drug addiction.

Lawmakers in Washington Monday heard a top official of the Carter administration call for a reduction in the penalties for possession of marijuana.

State Rep. Harold Katz, D-Glencoe, has introduced legislation to replace criminal penalties for possession of a small amount of marijuana with civil already have decriminalization laws and Wheeling officials have been considering the change.

"It appears to be an idea whose time has come," said Katz, who is making his second attempt to have the marijuana laws changed by the Illinois General Assembly.

Katz said he sees several reasons for the growing government attitude for changing the law and his reasoning seems to be shared by other public officials.

"First I think the old notion of yesteryear that marijuana was as terrible a drug as heroin or the other opiates has been dispelled by modern facts. We also know that things like alcohol and tobacco are far more hazardous than marijuana," Katz said.

He also said the current feeling is little good can come from exposing young people to the criminal justice system.

"All you really might be doing is keeping a good kid from getting into school or a good job," he said. KATZ'S BILL would make possession of less than one ounce of marijuana punishable with a fine rather than possible criminal penalties. However the criminal law still would be in effect for persons arrested either in a car or a public place for marijuana possession.

On the federal level, Peter Bourne, President Jimmy Carter's directordesignate of the White House Office of Drug Abuse Policy, made a similar call Monday.

Bourne told a U.S. House Select Committee on Narcotic Abuse and Control the administration does not favor legalization of marijuana.

"Our position is to discourage the abuse of all drugs, including alcohol and tobacco as national policy and at the same time we believe that the mechanism for discouragement should not be more damaging to the individuals than the drugs themselves," Bourne said.

EIGHT STATES already have softened penalties for marijuana possession. Another House witness said studies have shown no serious clinical damage from marijuana use.

In discussing his recommendation, Walsh said the proposal for fines instead of jail sentences are designed to reduce time needlessly spent by police on paperwork and court appearances.

Walsh's proposal, similar to an ordinance adopted in Palatine, would cut paperwork to about the same amount as is involved with a parking ticket.

Saccharin users wage tart fight on FDA ban

KURT BAER

Diabetics, weight watchers and consumers are being urged to join an industry backlash to the Food and Drug Administration's proposal to ban saccharin in sugar-free foods and drinks.

Full-page newspaper ads, placed by the Calorie Control Council, an association of saccharin product manufacturers, are being published in Chicago, New York, Philadelphia and Boston. They urge consumers to write their congressmen to protest the proposed ban.

The American Diabetes Assn. in New York said it will try to delay the ban and recommended no major changes in the use of saccharin by the American public.

JEANETTE WHITE, dietician with the American Diabetes Assn. in Chicago, said diabetics would be at a definite disadvantage if the saccharin ban goes through and no new alternatives to sugar are marketed.

"If they can't have saccharin and no other sweetener comes on the market, diabetics will find it inconvenient to sweeten their coffee, tea and other drinks. In addition, sugar-free soft drinks, diet gelatins, puddings and other 'free foods' in the diabetic's diet might also be lost," she said.

The FDA proposed the ban based on Canadian tests that showed large amounts of saccharin can cause cancer in rats. The agency says it does not permit the sale of other artificial

Coffee prices break $4 barrier

by United Press International

Wholesale ground coffee prices broke through the $4 barrier to a record $4.18 a pound Monday while the International Coffee Organization issued a study saying stockpiling by both retailers and housewives had helped drive up the cost of coffee to all-time highs.

In Cincinnati, Folger Coffee Co., a division of Procter & Gamble Co. and the nation's No. 2 roaster, boosted prices on wholesale ground coffee by 50 cents to $4.18 a pound and lifted prices on instant coffee by 10 cents an ounce.

The hikes, effective immediately, should be reflected on supermarket shelves within 60 days, the normal lag period before the wholesale price is passed along to the consumer.

THE FOLGER pricing action marked the company's third round of increases totaling $1.10 a pound since Feb. 3.

In Chicago, CFS Continental, the largest institutional coffee roaster, announced it had raised ground coffee prices by 30 cents a pound "to above the $4 mark," effective April 11. The latest price moves by Folger and CFS marked the first time major U.S. coffee roasters have pushed ground coffee prices above $4 a pound. Both attributed the increases to the heated rise in green coffee prices.

In London, the International Coffee Organization said a study by importing and exporting nations revealed the explosion in green bean prices has been triggered by smaller harvests and a tendency for retailers and housewives to build up stocks.

The study said the July 1975 frost which destroyed 73.5 per cent of Brazil's 1976 coffee crop, adverse weather conditions in other exporting nations and political disruptions have forced producers to dip into stocks to meet increased demand.

The study estimated world stocks for the 1976-77 coffee year would plummet to 13 million bags, with eight million held by Brazil and the rest by other producing nations, from 35 million bags a year earlier.

Bludgeoned body found in woods

The body of a man who had been bludgeoned, stabbed and shot in the head was found Monday in the Cook County Forest Preserve east of Des Plaines, police reported. Police said the man, between 17 and 23 years old, was found dead about 100 feet off a bridle path east of East River Road and north of Ballard Road.

A hiker discovered the body, police said. The man apparently was killed where his body was found and had laid in the forest between two and three days, police said. The man had been struck on the front and back of his head, had been slashed with a knife and had at least one bullet wound.

He was fully clothed, but no identification was found on his body,

Roberts is being held in lieu of $500,000 bond at the Metropolitan Correctional Center in Chicago. He is charged with 50 counts of mail fraud in connection with his operation of Teltronics Ltd., which advertised the sale of digital watches for $16.95. Federal authorities have said Roberts allegedly collected $1.7 million, but never filled the watch

Clerical workers form union

Des Plaines city clerical workers, upset about a new merit pay system and salary freezes, have decided to form a union chapter to represent them in collective bargaining, union official John Luety said Monday. About 30 of 70 eligible city workers met last Thursday to discuss organizing a new chapter of the Assn. of Independent Municipal Employes, Luety said. Luety is president of the Des Plaines Chapter of the Combined Counties Police Assn., a sister organization of AIME.

Youthful politicians put lessons to work

They're stumping off the old bloc

by LINDA PUNCH

In 1971, youth got the vote. In 1977, they're after the elected offices.

Youthful candidates in the Northwest suburbs are turning out in increased numbers to run for offices in park, township and municipal governments. At least 13 candidates, ranging in age from 19 to 25, are seeking positions traditionally occupied by their

Some want to improve local government and increase public interest in politics. Some hope to put into action principles learned in college political science courses. Most are political novices.

FOR 22-YEAR-OLD Christian Figge, 696 Therese Ter., Des Plaines, the decision to run for mayor was prompted by a desire to increase young voters' interests in the election.

"If someone my age runs, people my age are going to be more interested in the election. People my age are generally very ignorant of politics. I just want to make them more aware of the facts," he said.

Figge admits to a long-time interest in Des Plaines politics but said he never was really involved in political campaigns. He said he participated in national and local elections while a student at the University of Iowa, Iowa City.

Figge said Des Plaines government is not fulfilling the needs of the community. He said he had planned to run for alderman but decided the incumbent "is well qualified."

"I thought it would be a better choice to run for mayor," he said.

OVERCOMING VOTERS' apathy is a common theme of the youthful candidates. Raymond Carroll Jr., 21, of 205 W. Clarendon St., Arlington Heights, said voter indifference is one reason behind his decision to run for Wheeling Township Trustee.

"The main thing to me is getting people interested enough to come out. In the last election, less than 1 per cent of the registered voters came out. I think I can get quite a bit more than that," he said.

Making government more responsive to the people is another goal echoed by many of the youthful candidates. John Patrick Kelley, Jr., 23, of 1324 Chartwell Dr., Schaumburg, a candidate for Schaumburg Township road commissioner, said voters have a "negative attitude in general" towards politics and government.

"I want politicians to be what they're supposed to be - public servants who serve the people. Some politicians just serve their own needs," Curtiss Schmidt, 23, of 1833 Illinois St., Des Plaines, an aldermanic candidate, shares Kelley's viewpoint.

"We need to change the entire structure of government. Elected officials are there to serve the people not to take from them," he said.

FOR SOME CANDIDATES, campaigning at the local level is a way of getting their feet wet in the political arena. Douglas Antonik, 19, of 599 Exmoor Rd., Elk Grove Village said his bid for Elk Grove Township Trustee is "a way to learn the ropes of campaigning.

"Right now, I have political aspirations beyond the upcoming election. I'm interested in a future in politics," Antonik, who is a political science major at Augustana College, Rock Island, said he has been interested in politics "for a long time." He views the township trustee race as a way "to learn first-hand about what I've been learning in school.

"My father is a Democratic precinct captain and I've worked in every election campaign since 1960. This is the first time I'm running for office. I've looked into township government and I think it needs help. I think people should be aware of what's going on with their tax money," he said.

None of these candidates considers their youth a handicap. Figge said his age is "both a drawback and an as-

"A LOT OF PEOPLE say they would like to see somebody young in government. I have a lack of experience in city government but I think I'm an open-minded person and would seek out ideas. Anybody who wants to be mayor should do that," he said.

Carroll said he will be remembered because of his youth.

"I think it's proved to be an advantage. I've been out talking to people and they can't believe it but I think they will remember who I am and what I want," he said.

Judith A. Nelson, 21, of 629 N. Williams Dr., Palatine, a candidate for village clerk, said youthful involvement should have a positive effect on government.

"This might encourage youth to get more involved and not let older people make all the decisions," she said.

Other youthful candidates running for local office include Patrick A.

Trunda, 19, of 702 Linda Terr., Wheeling, candidate for village clerk; Glenn Meier, 23, of 113 S. Wheeling Ave., Wheeling, candidate for Wheeling Park board; Richard Riggio, 24, of 121 Audubon Ct., Hoffman Estates, candidate for the village board; Robert P. Kaplan, 21, of 110 Webster Ct., Hoffman Estates, a candidate for the Hoffman Estates Park Board; Mary F. Korzen, 25, of 1425 Sandpebble Dr., Wheeling, a candidate for Wheeling Township trustee; Dennis J. Harkins, 25, of 1100 Barberry Ln., Mount Prospect, a candidate for the Mount Prospect Library Board; and George Egan Jr., 24, of 434 Lillian Lane, Des Plaines, an aldermanic candidate.

At 84, candidate Dvylis ripe for political office

by MARSHA S. BOSLEY

"All of the senior citizens say they're going to vote for me. I don't think I'll go to the young folks."

That is the campaign strategy of Anton J. Dvylis, write-in candidate for a two-year term on the Mount Prospect Library Board.

At 84, Dvylis is the oldest Northwest suburbanite seeking election to public office this year. He is the exception to the recent trend of young blood - citizens age 19 to 25 - that has entered the local political arena in 1977.

"Nobody wanted to run," said Dvylis, 5 N. Waverly Pl., Mount Prospect. "So I thoughgt 'why not.' It will pect. "So I thought 'why not.' It will DVYLIS REGRETS a bureaucratic roadblock - a trip to the Cook County Clerk's office - caused him to miss the deadline for filing his nominating petitions. He did not have time, after picking up petitions three days before the deadline, to file with the county clerk the income disclosure statement required by the state and return to the village to submit the petitions.

As a result, his name will not appear on the April 19 ballot. "I couldn't make it," he said. "So first I'll have to pass out brochures telling people how to spell my name. It's tough, a Lithuanian derivitive. I will concentrate on the seniors."

His United States citizenship, Mount Prospect residency and interest in the library were enough to prompt Dvylis to enter this year's library board race. He said he also was encouraged to become active in library affairs by outgoing Mayor Robert D. Teichert.

"I WOULD LIKE to feel out how things are going around here," Dvylis said. "Maybe I'm doing a foolish thing but I will get more experience. If I would campaign among all of the people in Mount Prospect, I know

they would appreciate me and vote

One of Dvylis' main reasons for seeking a library board post is his concern over a lack of senior citizen representation.

"Most senior citizens are property owners, paying high taxes," he said. "They should be represented on any taxing body board, even in village government."

Although Dvylis said his status as an octogenerian should not hamper his campaign, he admitted he is "somewhat pessimistic" about the election. "Of course a politician is supposed to be positive all of the time. This is not really a political office. It's a community organization. If I win, OK. If I don't win, it's OK, too."

Keep Agnew on probation: lawyer

BALTIMORE (UPI) - An attorney for Spiro Agnew Monday argued the former vice president has obeyed the law since resigning in 1973 and his probation should be continued.

Agnew was accused by a Miami lawyer of being an unregistered foreign agent for Arab nations and the Justice Dept. said he was tardy in surrendering to the State Dept. gifts from foreign governments accepted while in office.

Attorney W. Lee Harrison told U. S. District Court Judge Roszel C. Thomsen that Agnew surrendered all foreign gifts worth more than $50 in 1974 and did not represent foreign govern-

Help in avoiding sex quacks set by association

WASHINGTON (UPI) - If your sex life needs help, the American Assn. of Sex Educators, Counselors and Therapists thinks it can point you in the right direction.

The association's 1977 Register of Certified Educators and Therapists lists 761 educators and 364 sex therapists in the United States, Canada and foreign countries who have been certified under its "strict" guidelines, according to Executive Director Patricia Schiller.

She said at least 1,000 hours of clinical experience and at least a master's degree or equivalent are required for certification as a therapist. From two to five years experience is required for sex educators.

"The number of certified educators and therapists has doubled since our first register was published a year ago," Dr. Schiller said.

The register was published in response to requests from the public for help in choosing qualified counselors and steering clear of quacks and amateurs, she said.

The association, affiliated with American University in Washington, says copies of the 1977 register may be ordered by writing to it at 5010 Wisconsin Ave. N.W., Suite 304, Washington D.C. 20016. The cost is $3.

Hijacked plane lands in Seville for fuel

SEVILLE, Spain (UPI) - An Iberia Airlines jet forced to fly to Africa and back by a hijacker in a bid for custody of his daughter and ransom money landed at Seville airport Tuesday, apparently en route to Italy, an airline spokesman said.

The spokesman said the Boeing 727 three-engine jet with 36 hostages aboard touched down safely at 4:40 a.m. local time (10:40 p.m. Chicago time) for refueling and a change of two crew members but was expected to be ordered by hijacker Luciano Porcari, 37, to take off within an hour for Turin, Italy.

Porcari, an Italian auto mechanic, used a rifle to force the plane on a 4,500-mile journey to the Ivory Coast to pick up his 3-year-old daughter and back to Spain.

IVORY COAST Minister of Labor Vanie Bi Tra personally delivered the money and the child, who had been living with her mother and stepfather, to the plane.

Porcari originally had demanded $600,000, but airlines officials said the figure was scaled down to $16,000 and handed over to Porcari.

The Iberia airlines Boeing 727 had 37 persons aboard when Porcari commandeered it Monday on a flight from Barcelona to Palma, Majorca.

Airline officials said all 37 hostages were still aboard when the plane took off for Casablanca with Porcari and his daughter, Margarita Beatrice, the child of a romance between Porcari and an African woman who, according to reports, has since married an

The hijacker was described by his former friends in Abidjan as "neither a mean man nor a madman, but someone who is very nervous and irate."

IBERIA SAID the plane's pilot had asked for the Spanish and Italian ambassadors to act as mediators in negotiations with the hijacker.

The gunman, first identified as Rossino Zossi - the assumed name he used to buy his ticket - took over the jet shortly after its 1:15 p.m. takeoff from Barcelona for the island resort of Palma de Majorca.

Victim of siege buried

Muslim leader booked, released

HAMAAS ABDUL KHAALIS

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Hanafi Muslim leader Hamaas Abdul Khaalis was formally booked on armed kidnaping charges Monday for his part in the Muslim siege in Washington last week. He was released after a 10-minute proceeding.

A short time later, Maurice Williams, 24, a college radio reporter, was buried at Fort Lincoln Cemetery four days after being shot during the Hanafi takeover of the District of Columbia Building. He was the only death during the 39-hour ordeal.

Khaalis was fingerprinted by police who recorded his name, address, occupation and race.

Police then released him again without bond - one of the terms in the agreement that resulted in the release of 134 hostages in the siege at three Washington buildings last week.

WILLIAMS, WHO covered city government for radio station WHUR, was shot in an elevator when two of Khaalis' followers took over the District Building. Khaalis was several blocks away at that time, leading the takeover of the B'nai B'rith Building.

Washington Mayor Walter Washington led the 1,000 mourners at Williams' funeral. City Councilman Marion Berry, who was shot in the chest during the takeover at the District Building, left his hospital bed to attend the service.

Also free without bail were three Hanafi Muslims accused of taking over the Islamic Center, the only building in which no one was injured or killed.

EIGHT HANAFIS arrested in the District and B'nai B'rith buildings were jailed. Prosecutors have made it clear they hope to have Khaalis and his 11 colleagues all behind bars once grand jury indictments are returned.

The prosecutors have indicated murder charges will be pressed against William's suspected killers.

Size benefits handgun users

The Chicago Crime Commission labeled as "deceptive" Monday a Police Foundation report that said cheap handguns are not a major contributing factor in crimes. Stepphen Schiller, executive director of the commission, said the handgun's concealability is what makes the Saturday Night Special "a convenient companion for the violence-prone individual.'

More important than price, he said, was size. Schiller said 71 per cent of the guns used in felonies had barrel lengths of three inches or less. The foundation study had indicated price was not a significant factor in determining which handguns will be used in crimes. Schiller countered that 56 per cent of the handguns used in felonies cost less than $20 retail.

Doctor convicted in abortion case

Howard White Jr., a chiropractor, was convicted Monday of performing a criminal abortion on a 16-year-old girl in April 1975. The girl suffered permanent injury. Cook County Circuit Court Judge Mark E. Jones found White guilty in a bench trial. "He could not have hurt her more if he had knocked her down and jumped on her," assistant state's attorney Richard Crystal told the judge in his closing argument.

Crystal said the victim had testified that White performed the abortion at his office on April 18, 1975, even though he is unlicensed. The girl was four months pregnant. During the trial, she testified that White used a corkscrew-like instrument that was more than six inches long and had a sharp end. Crystal said the teen-ager had to undergo more surgery becase of the damage caused by the abortion.

Man killed in 'boxing match'

A "boxing match" at a West Side Chicago housing project led one combatant to beat his opponent to death with a baseball bat, police reported Monday. Mark Haynes, 21, who was beaten on the head, was pronounced dead on arrival at Henrotin Hospital. A witness told investigators Marcus Williams and Mark Haynes, both 21, were engaged in the so-called boxing match before the beating at the Cabrini-Green Housing Project and Haynes cut Williams near the eye, police watch commander John Sullivan said.

Williams then left but returned a short while later and allegedly beat Haynes on the head with a baseball bat, Sullivan said. A witness told police Williams then threw the bat down a garbage

Crackdown on motorists: EPA

A federal official Monday warned the Illinois Secretary of State's office that the state should withhold license plates from Chicago and suburban Cook Countty motorists whose cars have not passed local air pollution inspections. U.S. Environmental Protection Agency regional administrator George Alexander said EPA officials met with representatives of Sec. of State Alan J. Dixon a few weeks ago to discuss regulation.

The federal officials said during the meeting that the EPA would not require the state to comply with the federal regulation until the U.S. Supreme Court and an Ohio state court rule on cases challenging the EPA's power. The testing regulations went into effect in August, 1975. The City established a mandatory program but did not enforce it, and the county has done nothing, Alexander

'Schools can stay open full year'

The Chicago Teachers Union Wednesday will begin distributing more than 700,000 leaflets designed to explain how the Chicago Board of Education can keep schools open for a full term, union officials said Monday. The board voted Feb. 23 to cut three days from the end of the school year. The union has threatened to strike if the days are not restored on the grounds that the unin's 1976-77 contract specifically called for a 39-week school year. "It is so critical that the students we reach have a full 39-week school year and we want each parent to know what the issues are," said Robert Healey, teachers union president.

Election code unconstitutional

A federal judge made it easier Monday for independent candidates to get on the (Chicago) mayoral ballot. And one candidate sent a letter to Acting Mayor Michael Bilandic's mother, asking her to convince her son to join in a debate. U.S. District Court Judge Bernard Decker declared unconstitutional the state election code requirement that independent candidates obtain signatures from 5 per cent of the number of voters who cast ballots in the preceding election. The U.S. Labor Party, the Socialist Workers Party and Gerald Rose, an independent who filed the suit, claimed the parties would have had to collect 63,373 signatures and Rose 35,947 to get on the ballot. For statewide election, only 25,000 signatures are required.

Decker ordered that independent candidates be allowed on the ballot if they receive 25,000 signatures. He said the law was designed to protect against frivolous candidacies.

Danville moves to fire firemen

The City of Danville Monday began taking steps to dismiss the 55 firemen who went on strike last Thursday. Mayor David Palmer said the city has filed complaints with city's Board of Fire and Police Commissioners against each of the striking firemen. Under a city ordinance passed two days before the strike began, the board must fire each fireman proven to have participated in the strike. In a move to obtain evidence against individual strikers, city officials have instructed police to take pictures of picket lines. Also Monday, the striking firemen and city negotiators refused to sign a new contract agreement because of a dispute over possible reprisals against union members who walked off the job.

Infant dies of stab wounds

Craig Chapman, 7 months, has died of at least five stab wounds which his mother is accused of inflicting last Thursday in the family home in Sheridan, authorities said. Mrs. Chapman was bound over to the La Salle County grand jury.

Business must lead in fighting fraud: Skinner

by TONI GINNETTI

Business must take a strong lead in the fight against white collar crime if corruption and fraud are to be attacked effectively, U.S. Atty. Samuel K. Skinner said Monday night.

Skinner, speaking at a gathering of several hundred members of the Institute of Internal Auditors, Inc., meeting at the Arlington Park Hilton, said businessmen are learning "they don't have to 'pay off' in order to do

But he added a stronger anticorruption stand from business is vital to the effort.

"UNFORTUNATELY, official corruntion isn't going to end," he said. "Business must make it clear that they won't 'go along.' "

The 38-year-old prosecutor, who will be replaced shortly by Chicago attorney Thomas Sullivan, blamed increasing white collar crime on three fac-

· A lack of traditional values and respect for others.

· The inabilty of the criminal justice system to handle the crime load and the feeling among the public that criminals "are getting away with it."

· The ease of success. "If we don't do something about it, before long we're going to see more and more businessmen and more and more lawyers and more and more CPAs going to jail for what they didn't do as much as what they did do,"

Skinner said. Skinner said the elements of white collar crime - official corruption, antitrust violations and business and government fraud — must continue to be prosecuted vigorously.

"If I could take all of the agony that an individual goes through from the moment he knows he's under investigation to the time he's convicted, and bottle it and put it in front of every citizen of the district, we could stop corporate crime on the spot," he said.

FRAUD IN FEDERAL social programs, on which the government spends $3 billion annually in the Northern District of Illinois, has grown because of lack of controls within the system, Skinner said.

"Fraud is rampant in many social programs," he charged. "We can't even see the tunnel let alone the light

5 suburbs adopt format for tornado siren tests

by DANN GIRE

In Hoffman Estates three years ago, tornado warning sirens were sounded when officials received word of a funnel cloud moving toward the community. But in neighboring Schaumburg, no siren went off.

The same weekend, a siren went off four times in Mount Prospect while those in Arlington Heights remained silent. In all cases, different policies on how and when to sound sirens kept Northwest suburban residents wondering whether they should take cover.

Now the days of wondering are over, at least for five Northwest suburban communities that have agreed on a standard format for sounding and testing tornado and air raid sirens.

THE FORMAT has been approved by the Civil Defense directors of Arlington Heights, Mount Prospect, Rolling Meadows, Elk Grove Village and Buffalo Grove.

Buffalo Grove Civil Defense Director Paul Soucy said under the agreement, signed last week, when one community believes there is reasonable cause to trip a siren, all communities will respond by sounding theirs. "This way, if one community is in danger, it allows other communities to make preparations for that danger," Soucy said. "Each community will still retain control over its own system, though."

Under the plan, each of the five communities will sound a test siren on the first Tuesday of each month at 10:30 a.m., except Buffalo Grove, which will test sirens every Tuesday morning.

THE AGREEMENT also provides that each community will adopt a standard format for broadcasting siren tests, David Gold, Mount Prospect fire chief's aide, said.

"We'll follow a standard pattern for testing the sirens which will be one minute of an alert blast (one steady siren blast), then a minute of silence followed by one minute of attack (a wavering or inermittant siren blast)," Gold said.

The only community that will not immediately adopt the format is Rolling Meadows, which will use a threeminute continuous siren blast for its

Gold said the new plan may diminish residents' confusion when they hear sirens from a neighboring municipality and don't know whether it is a test or a real alert.

SOUCY SAID Buffalo Grove will keep the weekly testing times because of a recent poll that showed most residents wanted the tests to be conducted weekly, not monthly.

The nationwide disaster siren for a tornado sighted in the area is a threeto five-minute steady blast. Officials recommend tuning to local radio or television stations to obtain reports on disaster situations if the tornado warning is sounded.

Persons should not call police and fire department numbers for information during a tornado siren, officials say. Only emergency calls should be placed to the agencies, which generally are very busy during a disaster alert, officials say.

Parks expected to hire new director tonight

A new director for the Salt Creek Rural Park District is expected to be hired tonight at a special meeting of the park board.

The board also may discuss forming guidelines to regulate free park privileges for commissioners. The meeting will begin at 8 p.m. at Rose Park, 530 S. Williams St.

Park Board Pres. Walter Peppler said the new director probably will attend the meeting. The board decided a week ago on the new director, but members said they would delay final action until the director had "cleared up his present commitment."

The director post has been vacant since Feb. 18 when James DeVos was given a one-day notice to leave. DeVos had submitted his resignation to the board Jan. 11 after disputes over park district management and his office hours.

DeVos had agreed to stay on as director until a new one was hired. Board members later issued the oneday dismissal. Peppler later said board members believed the quick dismissal "was the proper way to do it for the protection of this board and the individual."

Tonight's discussion of guidelines on free park privileges for commissioners and their families was spurred by questions from residents at a board meeting last week. The board was asked to draw up specific guidelines for free privileges, including free registration for out-of-district programs such as skiing lessons and horseback

Township incumbents accused of misuse of funds

Water available—just dig deeper

by DEBBE JONAK

The Northwest suburbs are not suffering from a water shortage. The problem is getting it out of the ground.

Area well contractors say people are consuming so much water, well equipment cannot pump it fast enough to meet the demand.

And so much is drawn out of the ground, nature does not have time to replenish the supply. Thus, the water level has dropped - in some cases lower than the pumps can reach.

THAT IS KEEPING the well-drilling companies hopping, said Peter Snelton, co-owner of Peter Snelton and Sons in Arlington Heights. His crews are busy lowering pumps or digging wells deeper.

"People call and say their well went dry. That's not right," he said.

THE NATION'S supply of ground water is more than 19 times that of lakes, streams and rivers, the National Water Well Assn. reports.

More than 95 per cent of the fresh water in the United States is in the porous layers of rocks and sand making up the earth's crust.

Water pumped from the ground eventually is replaced through nature's cycle, Snelton said. Rain falls and works its way down to the ground water supply.

Long periods without rainfall will not severely deplete the water supply, he said. However, the heavy lawn sprinkling that occurs during droughs will deplete it drastically.

The cycle is familiar: water use skyrockets, water tanks empty faster than they can be filled by pumps, pumps pull water out of the ground faster than nature can replace it. Then the water level drops below the reach of the pump.

SNELTON AND his crews rush out with their drilling rig or pump-lowering equipment in an attempt to repair the situation.

But sprinkling is a prime culprit behind depleted water supplies, said Neil Snelton, co-owner of A and C Snelton of Barrington.

Most area municipalities faced with dwindling water supplies were forced to restrict lawn watering last summer. And more restrictions may be on

"In July and August if we have a real dry season, there'll be a lot of trouble. . . mainly because of sprinkling," Neil Snelton said.

ADDED TO normal industrial, business, recreational and residential use, sprinklers can deplete water supplies

"If you leave a sprinkler on for one hour, that's 240 gallons," Peter Snelton said. That is almost double the amount of water a family of four uses during the day. The average person today uses 70 gallons a day, without sprinkling, he said.

Twenty years ago, the average person used only 50 gallons a day, he said because people have more baths, swimming pools, and washing machines are larger.

When his crews drill residential wells now, they generally install the pumps at a deep level, Peter Snelton said, "to allow for any future water level fluctuations."

IN THE PROSPECT Heights and Arlington Heights area, private wells average 120-160 feet deep.

But there is still plenty of water down there. And his crews do not even need water-witching sticks to trict trustees can be accused of sembly. anything but tact.

MSD pay raise draws outrage

The district, which is responsible for treating sewage and controlling storm water in the Chicago area, is preparing a legislative proposal that is a double-barreled shot at the taxpayers:

 A 38 per cent increase in the MSD real estate tax that will add $14 to the tax bill of a home with a $10,000 assessment.

• A $5,000 pay raise for the MSD trustees that would bring their salaries from $25,000 to $30,000 a year.

The tax hike will raise an additional $32 million for the dissounding expenses which will re- fat-cat income.

The $5,000 pay raise, on the other hand, will make what is already one of the higher-paying part-time government jobs in Illinois even more lucrative.

Chevrolet has been promoted as an inexpensive car for young - or young-thinking - motorists. Driving the "Chevy to the levee," in the words of one popular song, has been an American tradition.

Oldsmobile, on the other hand, carries the reputation of being somehow a more prestigious, solid-citizen-type car. The Olds promotion has always emphasized that the cars have, in a General Motors says the engines are comparable. In fact, General Motors Pres. E. M. Estes said, the company produces "no car which is unique in every one of their functional characteristics."

Whether buyers were financially ripped-off by getting Chevrolet engines in their Oldsmobiles is something that must be decided in court.

But for anyone who has spent years watching automotive advertising, it has to be hard to sympathize with General Motors in the present case.

Be sure to tell Ron Stackler (former director of the Dept. of Registration and Education) that last minute test for the doctors in the Dept. of Mental Health was a great idea. It sure created a mess for "Big Jim." Hope the other things we left behind for the new administration work as well.

This is better than the taxes. "There will be no Crosstown." That sounded good to the people during the campaign. Boy, has he got a lot to learn! Never tell the people that you want to spend another $1 million for a new airplane. The people always get riled up about the planes. Standardized tests have uses

Educators (big 'E') argue against accountability

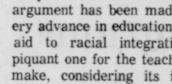

Something happens to teachers when they start being Educators. It's the same unfortunate metamorphosis that occurs when the venerable family doctor appears as a lobbyist for the American Medical Association or the egocentric newsman melds into just another bargaining unit. Power and perks take the foremost; dedication and talent tend to be left to those too absorbed in their work to act as spokesmen.

Take the matter of standardized testing in the schools. Just propose a comprehensive statewide testing program in which the average results in each school would be released, and all bureaucracy is likely to break loose. That's what happened in Arkansas. The Arkansas Education Association and the state Education Department met this modest proposal with enough objections, excuses and wild shots to kill it at this session of the state legis-troduce such tests:

the power of local school boards. This argument has been made against every advance in education from federal aid to racial integration. It is a piquant one for the teachers' lobby to make, considering its insistence on statewide financing for the schools. In addition, those school boards not holding their students to basic standards very much need their power eroded.

Standardized testing will erode

 The test scores can be taken too seriously. Yes, knowledge can be abused. That is not much of an argument for keeping it from people. Rather, it is an argument for presenting it adequately, and few people have as much experience at that as teachers. As one educator put it, "the public will have to be educated to avoid the football league syndrome." Just as people have to be educated not to confuse the results of an IQ test with intelligence. But if the public is willing to trust teachers with the education of the young, teachers might have enough trust in the public's sense of proportion to share the test results with it.

· Standardized testing will shrink emphasis on the basic skills. If that means the schools are going to get the courses in cosmetology, Driver Ed and Fashionable Trivia out of the students' way, it's the best argument yet for testing. There may be a lot in the school curricula that needs to be shrunk. A new emphasis in the schools on reading, writing, and reckoning is to be welcomed, not feared. All such matters should be left to professional educators. This is the sort of baseless condescension that explains much of the public's distrust of capital-E Educators. It reduces the public interest in the education of the young to paying taxes and hoping for the best. Further Reading: "The Miseducation of American Teachers," that classic by James Koerner.

 The tests are culturally biased. The solution to that problem would seem to be to unbias the tests rather than to keep their results a dirty little secret. Nor should it be assumed that because the test scores reflect socioeconomic status, and race as well, that they must necessarily be biased. Surely race relations have come far enough in our time for it to be said out loud that as a rule the poor and the black encounter a larger share of problems in education. (And not just in education.) Those problems need to be faced if much is to be done toward solving them. Why shouldn't the state know where the most severe problems ignored or feared. It's time education exist? When it comes to writing a met the test. statewide school aid formula, that in-school curricula by putting too much formation might be useful, not to say essential.

> · The schools should be accountable, but ----. (Fill in the blank with your favorite excuse.) What rings loudest in such statements is the But. One spokesman said that education should be made accountable without hurting children. The danger of hurting the individual child by releasing the average test results of a whole school is surely less than that of the present system, in which children may be tested individually and their scores maintained in school records. When those scores are taken too seriously by teachers, or parents, they can typecast the kid for life. But even this danger, though it should be guarded against, doesn't justify doing away with tests and records.

ABOUT THE HURTING children: Which hurts the child more - making a school's test scores public or failing to provide such an inducement to, and test of, the child's mastery of the skills needed to confront and enhance life? Talk about hurting children . . .

Surely this list of unacceptable excuses for not performing required work has gone on long enough. It's another form of fighting the problem rather than meeting it. Statewide testing is not the essential problem and should not be confused with it. Such testing should be seen as a useful tool - limited and subject to abuse, perhaps - but too valuable a tool to be

Tariff unit urges higher tax on imported televisions

Consumers are hurt by some foreign TV producers when the companies refuse to pay the going rate for service under warranty, Bahls said. He said American TV manufacturers are willing to back up warranties, but the companies compete at a disadvantage with foreign producers. Higher tariffs will prod American consumers to buy more American-made sets, he said.

A LEADER IN the campaign to revamp tariffs on foreign-made TV's, John J. Nevin, Zenith Radio Corp. chairman and president, Monday said the Chicago firm is "delighted" with the International Trade Commission's recommendations.

"We believe the recommendations, with respect to increased tariffs, are responsive to the industry's immediate needs," Nevin said.

"ONE OF THE WAYS of looking after the economy is to provide some measure of support for the American worker," Weiss said. "I don't say that we should be overly protective. But we should assure that when there is competition, it is fair competition."

"The protective tariff is in response to the dumping many of the irresponsible Japanese television manufacturers were doing with color television sets." Weiss said. In some cases, it would be cheaper to buy a Japanese set in Chicago than in Tokyo, he said.

Mideast hard-line pushed by PLO

A Palestine Liberation Organization official in Cairo urged Arab countries Monday to "abort" American peace plan in the Middle East by working to expel Israel from the United Nations, Farouk Kaddoumi, chief of the PLO's political department, accused the U.S. Democratic party of "blind support" of Israel and asked the PLO's 291-member National Council to stick with the organization's 1974 hard-line program.

"One of our aims is to abort the American settlement plan by getting Arab countries to commit themselves to action for the expulsion of Israel from the U.N.," Kaddoumi said in a report to the council. Kaddoumi, generally considered a moderate, spoke as radicals in the council worked to turn the session into a showdown over PLO chairman Yasser Arafat's swing toward moderation.

Italy condemns student riots

Italy's political parties Monday condemned the student violence that injured 21 persons in weekend riots. The government of Premier Giulio Andreotti said it will take any action necessary to restore law and order. "The government absolutely does not intend to abdicate its functions or responsibilities," Interior Minister Francesco Cossiga told the Senate. He said the government "will adopt, in prudent proportion to the seriousness of the circumstances, all measures permitted by the law, and may propose further measures to parliament."

Cossiga did not say what he meant by "further measures." The newspaaper Stampa Sera said they might include an unprecedented state of emergency. The universities of Rome and Bologna were closed by the disorders which swept Rome, Bologna and other cities. Fourteen policemen were seriously injured, and one was in critical condition with a bullet in his spine.

Amin guarantees Yanks' safety

President Idi Amin Monday guaranteed the safety of Americans and Britons living in Uganda as long as they refrain from spreading propaganda against his country. "In Uganda we are not racist and we do not discriminate against anyone," Amin said. "American and British doctors and engineers are welcome. They should not be afraid of anything and the government guarantees their Amin said on Uganda radio he is planning to address the estimated 200 Americans and 500 Britons in Uganda in the presence of the country's religious leaders, although he did not say when or where. The government Sunday accused some of the Britons and Americans of spreading lies about Uganda and ordered them to be closely watched starting Monday.

7 Americans get out of Zaire

U.S. spokesmen Monday reported seven more Americans have been evacuated from Zaire's southern battle zone where thousands of troops have invaded copper-rich Shaba province from neighboring Angola. In Washington, the State Department said Zaire has asked for emegency U.S. military aid to repel the intruders on its southwest frontier.

State Department spokesman Frederick Z. Brown said Zaire asked for "materiel assistance," but he declined to say how much had been requested. The central African nation has received $30.2 million in military assistance during the past fiscal year, plus $14.6 million through the Peace Corps and Food for Peace pro-

Indira in close election fight

Campaigning for India's first parliamentary elections in six years ended in more than half of the nation Monday with Premier Indira Gandhi apparently locked in a close fight to Keep her post. Armed police squads have been deployed "to ward off any attempts to capture polling booths" or deal with any event aimed at influencing the election, Chief Election Commissioner T. Swaminathan announced. "Considering the vastness and complexities, this has been the most peaceful election campaign so far," he said. In recent days the national news agency Samachar has reported three persons killed in separate incidents of election violence. By all accounts in this land without public-opinion polls the campaign has shaped up as Mrs. Gandhi's toughest yet.

MIA hunters briefed in Hawaii

Hanoi cooperation could lead to speedy information on what happened to at least one-third of the 2,550 Americans still missing in the Indochina war, U.S. military officials said Monday in Honolulu. "We know of at least 250 sites where missing Americans may have fallen in Vietnam and a good check of those sites could possibly tell us the fate of up to 1,000 of the missing," Capt. George Petrie told reporters.

Petrie, operations chief of the Defense Department's Joint Casualty Resolution Center, briefed a five-member White House commission flying to Asia to seek Vietnam's cooperation in clearing up the question of what happened to the missing Americans in Indochina. United Auto Workers union President Leonard Woodcock, chairman of the commission, and his four colleagues hoped to bring back the remains of at lest 12 missing Americans.

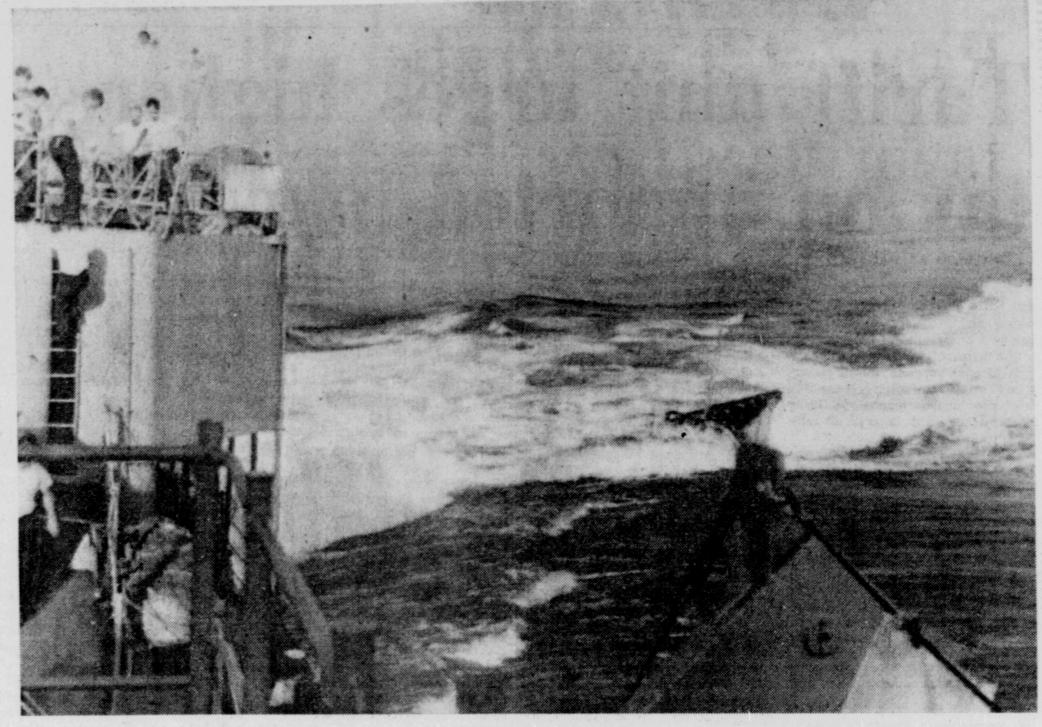

Bail for Boyle may come today

Defense attorneys in Pittsburgh prepared Monday to bail onetime United Mine Workers union president W. A. "Tony" Boyle out of jail, where he has spent the last year for the mucders of union rival Joseph "Jock" Yablonski and two members of Yablonski's family. A court official said Boyle, 75, may gain his release Tuesday from the State Correctional Institute. Bail of $250,000 was set last week after the state Supreme Court Jan. 28 overturned Boyle's 1974 conviction and ordered a new trial because Delaware County Judge Francis Catania had refused to allow the testimony of a defense witness.

Burton Rose, one of Boyle's attorneys, telephoned the Delaware County chief deputy clerk of courts Monday and said he was given instructions on presenting the bail for Boyle's freedom from a state penitentiary. "From our conversation, I would say it will be tomorrow," said Joseph Palazzo, the chief deputy.

Coast Guard empties oil tanker

The Coast Guard Monday began to empty a Liberian oil tanker which was leaking fuel oil when it sailed into South Portland (Maine) harboor four days ago after a stormy Atlantic crossing. The Coast Guard took command of the tanker Anco Elias after its master asked that an order directing the vessel to leave U. S. waters be suspended on the grounds it was not seaworthy. Cmdr. John Ekman, head of the Coast Guard Marine Safety Office in Portland, said the tanker began leaking a small amount of No. 2 fuel oil shortly after its arrival at the Chevron pier Friday.

Soviet sub is blamed for crash

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The Navy Monday officially blamed the Russians for a collision last August between a partially submerged Soviet nuclear submarine and the frigate USS Voge, which caused more than $500,000 damage to the American ship.

Spokesmen said after a review of an investigation, "it was concluded that the maneuvering of the Soviet submarine was the cause of the collision" Aug. 28, 1976, in the Ionian Sea off

They said the sub had been following the Voge on a parallel course for about an hour and suddenly turned into the United States ship at a speed of more than 20 miles per hour.

Spokesmen said the Soviet submarine received damage to its conning tower, bow and forward deck. It was seen on the surface following the incident but did not answer an offer of assistance.

The Navy said the incident had been discussed with Soviet authorities but no claim was being made for damages because there was little chance of collecting.

Pants still wardrobe favorite with women

by MARIANNE SCOTT

Suburban women are not about to drop their pants.

The men may contend that they would like to see legs again and the shops may be pushing skirts and dresses, but the "bottoms market," as it is known in the trade, is still holding its own.

Which is not to say that women are not adding skirts and dresses to their wardrobes for spring and summer. Indeed, most women can't resist the temptation to look feminine again, at least part of the time, but they have no intention of giving up the comfort and tailored good looks of slack outfits.

In the "Who wears the pants" category at least, women have won equal rights - if they want it.

But that all depends on one's life style, it seems.

CLUBWOMEN PLAN to wear more skirts and dresses for luncheons, but will continue with slack outfits for volunteer work, homemaking duties and leisure activities.

Homemakers will continue to wear their slacks for most occasions, sometimes changing to skirts for special occasions such as dressy luncheons.

With working women it depends on the job and the working environment.

Donna Hartley, president of 7th District, Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs, will be wearing slack outfits for board meetings, skirts for luncheons.

Natalie Hogberg, central regional coordinator for Ortho Pharmaceutical Corp., Arlington Heights, believes that for her, the proper business attire is skirts and dresses, but she'll continue to wear slack outfits for work on inclement days or days when she'll be lugging things around the office or in and out of her car.

MARIAN QUIGLEY, director and owner of Mount Prospect Nursery School and Day Care Center, is tired of pants suits but thinks they are better for her work. She likes high heels and getting back to being a lady again, which she will do for afternoon affairs and theater parties.

Helen Macior, insurance broker with Macior & Co., Rolling Meadows, never wears pants for business. "I'm too short to look well in pants," she said, but added that she does wear slacks in Florida or when the occasion demands.

Fern Gran, area real estate salesperson with Quinlan & Tyson, Inc., says she will continue to wear slacks almost exclusively. With her busy schedule and getting in and out of cars, Fern says slacks are more comfortable and easy to wear. She likes long skirts for evening, and quipped, "I always wear a skirt on Easter."

Ruth Montgomery, owner of Ruth's Hair Stop in Palatine, will cont'nue wearing slacks for work. With all the stooping and bending involved in her work, Ruth believes slacks look better. "Skirts, especially those minis, were disastrous in our business," said Ruth.

A HOME ECONOMICS teacher in Palatine has added more skirts and dresses to her wardrobe but expects to wear slack outfits for work and most other functions.

An employe in a crowded, noisy, cluttered office in Arlington Heights says her surroundings are not conducive to gussying up in dresses.

A Buffalo Grove homemaker who makes all her clothes does not expect to wear dresses or skirts. Being short she feels she gets more height when wearing slacks. A Buffalo Grove homemaker expects to wear more skirts and dresses for daytime affairs, but slacks and slack outfits for most occasions, and a Schaumburg homemaker has fallen in love with gauchos as an alternative to slacks.

Women agree that hot, summer weather is no deterrent to wearing slacks; air conditioning everywhere has changed all that. Furthermore, pants buffs have more than one leg to stand on. Besides gauchos they can compromise with culottes and even knickers, but the straight leg, classic trouser is the

IN SKIRTS it's the versatile wrap and tie that is making strides, and in dresses it's the soft look with hemlines just below the knee.

Department stores and women's wear shops report a definite increase in the sale of dresses and skirts, especially since hemlines are shorter and no longer at mid-calf. Over the winter months pants were selling three to one over dresses and skirts, according to Women's Wear Daily, but store checks indicate that the ratio is now more like half and half, at least in Chicago area suburbs.

However, women's wear sales clerks are quick to point out that many women are buying skirts and dresses at the insistence of their husbands. And if past performance means anything, others will stash them away waiting for a deserving occasion, or wear them a few times and revert to their slacks - even if they weren't blessed with the rearview look of Angie Dickinson or the girl on the TV commercial with the "slightly tight pants."

But business is looking up for the girl watchers; and perhaps there'll be more than birds tweeting on the avenues this spring.

In the world of fashion you march with crowd on color

by ELLIE GROSSMAN

Pat Tunsky is deliberately colorless. A pale blonde, she always wears brown, gray or black.

She works in a white office with "a very muted rug and only green plants for accents."

But between 10:30 a.m. and 2 p.m., when the best light floods her New York office on the 32nd floor of a building near the East River, she surrounds herself with "bright, deep, rich colors."

She sits there coordinating perhaps 40 colors that complement each other as solids and in combination. And twice a year, her company, Color, Inc., sends these out as pom-poms four to six pages of solids, four to six pages of combinations — to mens and womenswear manufacturers, and mills here and abroad.

FOR $125 a season (spring-summer and fall-winter), 300 subscribers get to see which colors Ms. Tunsky has decided are going to be "important" for that season.

Because of the nature of the garment industry, the season is always well in the future.

"We've been working on spring '78 since August '76," she says, "and our color box started to go out on Dec. 1,

"Outside of the basics, the black, brown, gray, camel and navy which constitute the majority of garments worn in this country," she says, "you've got four or five lively or rich fashion tones that change from season to season. We develop them through knowing the history of color. Colors we haven't had in the past few seasons will return modified."

BY "WE" she's referring basically to mill stylists, the people who are in a sense at the bottom of it all.

"A designer doesn't go to a mill and say I want certain colors dyed," she explains. "The mill stylists decide what colors they're going to use, and then come up with a finished line to show manufacturers, say for spring

"Then the manufacturer must sample from the mill, test his fabrications, his dyes and styles and begin to show this line for spring '78 to store buyers in October '77."

When spring '77 was in the works, everyone decided to emphasize "South Pacific influences and soft colors. And to use a lot of white and a lot of shocking colors like turquoise."

BUT DON'T GET the wrong idea. It's not a cabal, she says, even though "colors really happen to be influenced by a few people who do the research. We're not master-minds, we don't say we're going to have America wearing rust, but there are just so many colors you can have in your line and of those 40 or so, you settle on four cr five as the most important."

"If neutrals are right (and they are for spring and fall '77), then we all agree they're right and we agree at the inception of colors for the new season."

And the man who wants to cut and sew a different shade is out of luck in America where mass goods are produced for a massive population.

"IF YOU'RE going to go off into left field, then you can just as soon forget it because you're going to sell what is not wanted, and what is wanted is generally what is shared by all people."

What's wanted for fall '77, too, are "deep, rich burgundy, Spanish tile green - we call it that because you see this color in Spanish tiles - and a brighter navy called blueberry."

And that's the way it's gonna be. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Don't count those polyesters out yet!

If you're one of the zillions who like the easy care and comfort of polyesters but are bored with the sameness look and lack of character in polyesters, keep up the faith.

According to the manmade fabric industry, a renaissance is on the way. The new manmades will be turning up in many new textures including solids,

Like so many of the fashion favorites of years gone by, the traditional cord pinstripe suit is back.

This time the summery look returns in updated models such as the fourbutton double-breasted style by Nino Serruti for the M. Wile Rue Royale Collection.

Tailored of a lightweight polyester/viscose rayon with muted tan stripings on off-white, the jacket is subtly shaped and given generous sized lapels and large patch-pockets with rounded bottoms.

The neat and clean look of suits of this type should make them a popular choice for spring and summer wear.

READERS ASK:

Dear Mr. Juster: My 32-year-old husband persists in wearing a crewcut. I have tried to get him to let his hair grow, but he won't. His friends. too, tell him he would look better and more "with-it" by letting his hair grow. Also, his hairline is receding and it is quite noticeable with a crew cut. Help, please! - W.F.H.

He certainly has gotten the message; if that hasn't persuaded him to do some hair raising, there isn't anymore you can do. It's entirely up to him to decide whether he wants to go long hair. One thing about it, that man of yours is no conformist.

For the leaflet, "40 Ways to Make Clothes Last Longer," send 10 cents and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Harry Juster, in care of this newspaper.

would like to use that way. -M.G.

It's quite simple. First, fold into a triangle, then fold lengthwise until it is about three inches wide. Now it is ready to wear around the neck either of two ways - by knotting, or by slipping a small ring about a half inch in size over the ends and tightening. In either case, fluff out the ends. That's all there is to it.

Dear Mr. Juster: I recently bought a plaid suit and my wife is after me to wear patterned shirts and ties withit instead of the solid ones I've been using. Aren't patterned shirts and ties bad with a plaid suit?-D.S.

Not if the patterned accessories aren't over done. For example, try a mini-check shirt and neat space-pattern tie or a soft stripe shirt and a simple design tie.

Combining patterns makes for more varied looks and actually isn't tough to do. The secret is to let one pattern dominate (in this case the plaid of the suit) and the other complement it, not compete.

CLOTHES-ING NOTE - A psychologist claims that wearing brown ties indicates a reticent nature and sporting red ones denotes talkativeness. Which leads one to politely ask: What is the fellow who goes for ties in brown and red com-

"We've been talking about a line of cosmetics," said Miss McFadden, "but nothing is definite."

If she does - and the betting is, she will go into makeup - that will put Mary into the multi-products arena with Diane von Furstenberg and Gloria Vanderbilt.

McFadden like von Furstenberg and Vanderbilt, has the right connections.

McFadden said her clan is in the Social Register, but she was dumped after her second marriage (now ended) to Frank McEwen, director of the National Gallery in Rhodesia. "No one dictates to her," said McFadden of Nevelson's non-designer dressed list. "She is among those secure and confident enough to create their own looks."

EASY TOPPING! The fastest made blouse in history is simply a large scarf brought under the arms, crossed and tied behind the neck. The front will move like a jacket but NOT reveal anything. The same effect can be made into a dress. Just cut fabric (a stretch-knit type) the same width as the blouse, with the length to the knee or floor and tie it the same way. An instant blouse or dress . . . and it's easy. Now New York '77 G.J.L.

The doctor says

Heart valve surgery often very helpful

Could you please write a column on bad heart valves (aorta, etc.) for those of us who have them? Everything I read about all the new wonderful things that can be done for heart patients refers to the coronary arteries.

I never hear of anyone who has a valve, especially the aortic, being replaced. From what I have seen on TV the valve replacement doesn't help much.

Your letter reminded me how much things have changed. Only 10 years ago surgery on the coronary arteries was just beginning. The operations that were popular then for coronary artery disease are not even used today, having been outmoded by the popular coronary bypass operation — bypassing the obstructed coronary.

Ten years ago most heart surgery was for valve replacement or correction of birth defects. Valve replacement was usually necessary because of heart valve damage from rheumatic heart disease. We have so few cases of rheumatic heart disease today that surgery for these problems has greatly decreased. So it is that you hear about operations for coronary artery disease and very little about valve replacement.

When the heart valve needs to be replaced, the surgery is often very beneficial, contrary to the impression you seem to have gotten. The aortic valve is located at the outlet of the left ventricle, the heavy pumping chamber that pumps blood to most of your body. The normal valve is composed of two tissue flaps, somewhat like the sails on a sailboat. They float open as the heart contracts and ejects blood into the large artery (aorta). When the contraction is over, the pressure in the aorta causes them to swing back together closing the gate to the ventricle and preventing the blood from flowing backward into the heart.

WHEN THIS valve is severely damaged, the valve may not close effectively and allows the blood to leak backward into the heart. Obviously the more blood that leaks backward the less effective the heartbeat is in pumping blood to the rest of your body. Or the valve may become so obstructed from disease that it impedes the outflow of blood. In either case, when the valve damage is severe, the valve can be and is replaced in selected cases.

The common valve used is nothing more than a ball trapped in a wire basket. The opening of the basket is sutured into the opening of the aorta where the old valve was located. The basket is in the aorta. As the blood rushes out of the heart, it forces the ball away from the opening rim of the basket. The basket catches the ball so it can't go very far.

When the contraction is over and the heart chamber begins to relax, the blood starts to rush back into the heart. This causes the ball in the basket to slam down over the rim of the open basket and closes the opening. This way it prevents the backward leak of blood while the heart is relaxing and filling for the next contraction. The process is repeated with each heartbeat. Such operations have added many years of useful life to many patients.

Commercial remover for wax build-up

Dear Dorothy: Thought my kitchen linoleum was worn out only to discover after I dropped a heavy object on it that underneath it was lovely — like new. All it had was a wax build-up. Do you know how to remove it without great effort? We tried a soapy steel wool pad on a 10-inch area. It came out fine, but what an ordeal! — Mrs. Frank Diksa

Sorry, this IS a tough job — and no easy way I know about. If possible, try to get the wax remover recommended for your kind of floor covering. You don't want to use anything so strong it will take off the pattern. The general rule for getting off a heavy wax build-up is to use a commercial wax remover or a solution of one cup household ammonia to a gallon of water. Even with this it may be necessary to use 000 steel wool on some of the areas. Once the floor is rinsed and dried, use a wax recommended for your linoleum and stop a few inches from the baseboard to avoid a build-up on untraveled areas.

Dear Dorothy: Is there any simple way to clean out the piled-up leaves in a pachysandra bed? — Marge Adelman

Usually this is a job where manual labor is the only answer. But if you have a snow blower, or know someone who has one, it can be used to blow most of the leaves out of the bed into a pile easier to rake up.

Dear Dorothy: My daughter put ink marks around the mouth and nose of her doll. I've tried spray cleaner and cleanser, all with no luck. Any suggestions? — Lori Hall

Just one — and recommended by all the doll hospitals. Put the doll outside for 24 to 48 hours. The dew, sun and air do the trick.

(Mrs. Ritz welcomes questions and hints. If a personal reply is required, please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Write to Dorothy Ritz in care of Suburban Living, Paddock Publications, Box 280, Arlington Heights, Ill. 60006.)

CBS chief aims for top programs

Robert Wussler is a man trying to breathe new life into CBS, which has fallen from grace during the past six months.

It has lost its first place status among the nation's three major networks to ABC this season.

Wussler, former station manager of WBBM-TV, Channel 2, Chicago, has been president of the CBS network for about a year and since April, he has been hiring the best people he can find to bring excellence back to the network's programming, he

"No one before me looked ahead to this time," Wussler said, and so he is struggling to pull his network out of a slump.

THE SOLUTIONS HE'S seeking take time. Rebuilding and refining does not happen overnight.

"What I do today will be meaningful 10 months or a year from now. Things are in the works for a long time in this business before people see them on television," Wussler said Monday.

"I want to make CBS a special place for television viewers in the next few years. We can reach a golden age, but it's going to take some time," he said.

Wussler has a lot of sincerity and a lot of smarts. He realizes the limits of time and the shortcomings of some programming decisions, but looks to the future with energy and plans. HE SEEMS MORE genuine than what the average person might expect from a network president. But, he really is one of those average persons who worked his way up from the mail room to the presidency of CBS in 20 years. He knows what it's like to watch television and be moved by what he sees, or be disgusted. He knows what it's like to produce television shows because he did it for about 15 years. He knows the headaches of keeping a network-owned station like Channel 2 in Chicago operating smoothly and successfully because he did that for about two years.

And now Wussler not only has to keep an entire network working, he has to make it better.

A surge in new CBS programming is under way. In May, the network will pilot at least one new program or original special each month. There will be "only peaks, no valleys," Wussler said.

CBS WILL BE GOING with all sorts of new halfhour situation comedies, made-for-television movies and novels, and experimenting with prime time sports events.

Although the network is losing the "Mary Tyler Moore" show, MTM enterprises will be cranking out new situation comedies and dramas for CBS. Many will star veterans of the successful Saturday night show and will preview in the fall.

Situation comedies being developed will appeal to both adults and youngsters. One comedy now in production deals with the professional and personal lives of two young women in the advertising business, he said. The story line rings of the "Mary Tyler Moore" style, but it won't be quite as sophisticated.

Among the new staff CBS has hired to help programming is Paul Monash, vice president of madefor-television movies and mini-series who helped produce the film, "Carrie."

"In the next 10 to 20 months there will be a great deal of product coming out of his department in terms of short verse and novels for television. We're starting from scratch in the area of mini-series, but by 1978 viewers are going to have a lot to look at." Wussler said.

"There are no rules in television anymore, so we're going to try everything. They'll be new program concepts, new themes that several years ago television could not explore. But, we will now," he Wussler is convinced programs like "Who's Who," if given the right kind of time and attention, can be very successful. He admits experiments like "Evil Knievel's Death Defiers" in January was a mistake and that dramatic specials like last week's "Circle of Children" is the kind of program most viewers want to see more of.

He's aware of the demand to lessen excessive television violence and the necessity of jumping back into the marketplace with some solid, innovative programming. He knows it's a lot easier to talk about than to do.

"Television can be a better medium. We can be a better network, and we will," Wussler said.

PBS brings live opera to screen from the Met

by JOAN HANAUER

NEW YORK (UPI) - The same medium that brings you "Happy Days" will bring a wonderful night tonight when the Public Broadcasting System broadcasts "La Boheme" live from New York's Metropolitan Opera House. The program will air at 8 p.m. on Channel 11.

"Live makes a big difference," said Renata Scotto, who sings Mimi, the impoverished, consumptive seamstress who is the opera's tragic her-

"The audience can see the opera as it is in the theater. If a performance is on film, the audience knows it can be cut or retaped. Live, anything can

"We know it, too. There is a kind of click for performers. When an opera is taped and we know we can do it again, maybe we relax a little more. And we shouldn't relax.

"I THINK MAYBE the sound is not so good - on television it is a little difficult to have high fidelity. But maybe the radio simulcast will bring better fidelity to the voice."

Miss Scotto said in an interview, speaking English with a decided Italian accent, that only minor concessions were being made to the television cameras - none of them involving the actual performance.

"We will use special makeup," she said. "For the stage, with the audience far away, makeup must be stronger. Television brings us so close, the makeup must have more

"This is a different kind of audience and how they see us is very important. With the audience that comes to the theater, they like the opera very much and they don't care so much what they see because they enjoy the singing so much.

"ON TELEVISION there also are people watching who don't like opera. For those people we must make the opera very beautiful.

"The people who go to the Metropolitan Opera House are mostly New Yorkers who pay a lot of money to see a performance and they are maypathetic and humane role, but she should have some dignity. "I do not have exactly the physique for the role." the well-rounded diva said of the consumptive heroine, "so my manner and the music and the voice have to change the eyes of the audience to see me like I was very

Bubble Gum tiny stars not small-time

by DIANE MERMIGAS

It's like viewing the world in miniature. It's a news show for kids, produced by kids. It's "Bubble Gum Digest," one of the most fascinating, innovative shows on television.

Patterned after most adult news magazine programs, it is WMAQ-TV's Channel 5 answer to "Bugsy Malone" and a bright star in an age of children's television.

There are all sorts of shows geared toward young minds today, directed to entertain and educate. But, there is nothing that compares to this newscast for the little people.

IT IS THE kind of show that adults, looking for something different, are bound to enjoy as well.

Imagine a scaled-down Newscenter 5. Allyson Johnson, 12, academically peering through eyeglasses and H. L. Silets, 13, with hands comfortably folded on the desk before him, co-anchor the half-hour 5 p.m. broadcast on Saturdays.

It's simply uncanny. The gestures. the control on camera, the spoken reports and the delivery are all very adult and, frankly, more entertaining than what you will find weeknights during the traditional news hour.

The news team of 13 youngsters, ranging in age from 9 to 13, are undeniably the stars of the show.

They prepare their own news copy, come up with their own material, do all the speaking and all of the special effects. They are a bunch of bright, talented kids who work under the creative and understanding hand of Diane Bloomgarden, the show's pro-

SHE WANTS the show to give other youngsters ideas "on what to see and to understand what's going on around them," she said.

The grade school set is often forgotten in television programming and "Bubble Gum Digest" gives them a show of their own, even though people of all ages watch it regularly, Ms. Bloomgarden said.

It is a locally produced show for the entire family aired at a time when parents and children usually are home together preparing for dinner and the evening activities, she said.

At least 9 per cent of the Chicago area television audience tuned in at

It's obvious, honest, curt counsel he offers in the "Dear Arthur . . . " segment of the show. More than 500 letters have poured into the Chicago station since the new season began, and Arthur personally has answered almost every one of them, both on and off the air.

"Some of them ask me how they can keep their little brothers and sisters out of their bedrooms. I tell them to put a lock on the door. Other kids have love problems with their boyfriend or girl friend, and they want to know how to get on TV. I tell them to start with acting school like I did," a confident, ham-like Arthur said.

"It's just common sense advice," he said, noting he never dreamed he would be a male "Dear Abbey" on television. Arthur has done commercials, and said he would like to be a movie star someday.

IN THE MEANTIME, he is having a good time. He attended President Carter's inauguration in Washington on behalf of the "Bubble Gum Digest" team.

Arthur and his cohorts have interviewed big names including Nelson Rockefeller, Sen. Ted Kennedy, D-Mass., and Gov. James R. Thomp-

There have been the expected feature reports on Chicago area chocolate and bubble gum factories in past shows. But, each week, there is a full wrapup on important events and people that would interest anyone in grade school and junior high school.

"THE ONLY problem these kids ever seem to have is trying to see over the bodies and heads of grownups at press conferences or crowded events, because they are all so short," she said. "Otherwise, they are real pros. They are so good and natural at

"Wide World of Sports."

It has taken six months for the 21 dancers of the Chicago Ballet to start dancing like a single company.

Of course, the troupe still has not shaken the label of a "promising" young company. But the March program showed the dancers not only promise, they also deliver.

Producer William Allyn says it is not a documentary, nor is it what is usually considered to be a biography. If this were just a saccharine retelling of the fairy story of a lovely actress who married a handsome prince, he said, he would not have enlisted the talent of Budd Schulberg, a leading scriptwriter of the realism school.

"No," Allyn said. "This is almost like creating another form. It's a true entertainment about one of world's most interesting women."

Allyn said he got Grace's consent to do the show because he met her in 1951 when he was a fledgling actor and she a young actress and, as with so many of her early friends, they kept in touch.

"I told her we would attempt to do, very fully, a broad picture of her, personally and professionally."

The princess only stipulated that her share should go to the Ballet School of Monte Carlo, in which she takes a deep interest, and once that was decided she was, Allyn said, "incredibly cooperative.'

He recalled she was playing a ballerina in "Ring Around the Moon" when they met at the Ann Arbor Festival. "THERE'S A LOT of talk in the play about the beauty of the character she played," he said, "and the critics reported next day that for the first time in their experience every superlative was true. Allyn said he filmed Grace and

But it is known to be a highly successful marriage - confounding some of those who predicted otherwise when it captured the imagination of the world in 1956.

Allyn said working closely with the princess after all these years has not changed his opinion that she is "a unique human being, warm, vulnerable, gentle, wonderful."

Houston shatters Illinois State's NIT hopes, 91-90

NEW YORK (UPI) - All America guard Otis Birdsong capped a 30-point performance with a 20-foot jump shot with six seconds left in overtime Monday night to give Houston a hardfought 91-90 victory over Illinois State in the second game of a National Invitation Tournament quarterfinal doubleheader.

The victory lifted Houston into the semifinals Thursday night against Albama, which advanced earlier Monday when Reggie King scored 17 points and came up with a key steal in helping the Crimson Tide overcome a 10-point deficit for a 79-72 victory over Virginia Tech.

Houston, 28-7, appeared well on its way to an easy victory, leading by 14 points, 48-34, at halftime, Illinois State rallied in the second half, however, behind Jeff Wilkins, who scored 26 points before fouling out with 1:46 left in regulation time and Houston ahead

BIRDSONG THEN sank five free throws to give Houston what appeared to be a sure victory. But freshman Ron Jones was fouled by Birdsong while attempting a 22-foot desperation jumper with one second left and calmly sank two free throws to send the game into overtime 81-81.

Cecil Rose scored eight of his season-high 26 points to give Houston an 89-88 lead with 33 seconds left, but freshman Joe Galvin, who replaced

Wilkins, scored on his second tap off the offensive boards with 19 seconds left to push Illinois State in front 90-

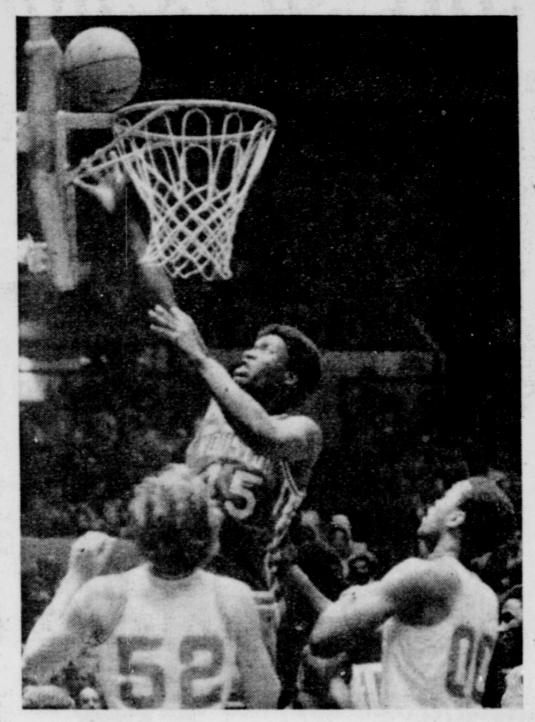

The Cougars then brought the ball up court and Birdsong weaved his way through a series of picks way from the ball to obtain his open jumper.

Virginia Tech, which had won all five of its previous NIT games, including the championship in 1973, took a 31-21 lead midway through the first half largely due to the inside play of Ernest Wansely and Duke Thorpe.

ALABAMA, WHICH had crushed Virginia Tech 108-78 in the finals of the Dayton Invitational in mid-December, chipped away at the lead, but still trailed 57-50 with 13 minutes left

King then ignited a 17-3 burst with a basket and put Alabama on top for the first time since early in the game 61-60, when he stole the ball from reserve center Sam Foggin and converted for a basket with 7:24 remain-

Alabama then stretched its lead to five points on baskets by Bobby Scott and Murray. After Thorpe sank two free throws and Ron Bell a jump shot to bring Virginia Tech back to within 65-64 King again scored inside. Then Murray stole the inbounds pass and turned it into a three-point play to give Alabama a six-point lead.

WAY UP AND IN. Houston's Charles Thompson (45) goes sky-high to sink a layup during Monday night's game against Illinois State. Houston won a 91-90 thriller in overtime. Looking on are Jeff Widdel (52) and Jeff Wilkins (00) of Illinois State.

Franks expresses guarded optimism

by JOE SARGIS

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. - There's a whole new deal in Chicago this year, from the front office on down to the playing field, and the hope is it will help the Cubs finish higher than they did in 1976.

No one, though, should get too excited, at least not until there have been some positive results.

Naturally, new manager Herman Franks is excited, but he has been around long enough to know what happens in the spring makes good reading in the family newspaper but isn't necessarily indicative of how good — or bad for that matter — a club will be.

"I'M FEELING my way around," is the way Franks puts it. "I've been told a lot about my players and while I'm not dismissing what I've heard, I'm anxious to form my own opinions. That will take time: so will building a winner.

"To this point, I think we have some solid starting pitchers, a lot of leather in the infield and hitting in the outfield. It's enough to make me optimistic and cautious at the same time."

Ray Burris, Rick Reuschel and Bill Bonham won 38 games between them last year while the Cubs were finishing fourth in the National League East, 26 games behind the Phillies. Franks' job this spring is to find a fourth starter, two long relief men and another short man to go with Ramon Hernandez, Paul Reuschel and young Bruce Sutter.

Steve Swisher and George Mitterwald give the Cubs decent catching and in the infield Franks has Bill Buckner penciled in for first, Manny Trillo for second, Ivan De Jesus for short and Steve Ontiveros for third. Trillo is the only holdover from a year ago.

THE OUTFIELD may be the Cubs' strongest suit with Bobby Murcer in right, Jerry Morales in center and Jose Cardenal in left. Murcer adn buckner were Chicago's big winter acquistions but they cost the Cubs Rick Monday, a 32 homer man, and Bill Madlock, the N.L. batting champ.

Strengths - The outfield threesome with Joe Wallis, Greg Gross and Gene Clines as backups.

Weaknesses - Not enough pitching, either front line or in the bullpen, poor team speed and too many infield question marks.

New faces - Murcer, Buckner, De Jesus, Clines, Ontiveros and Gross, plus rookies Ed Putman, a catcher, Guillermo Hernandez, a pitcher, and Mike Umfleet, an infielder.

Outlook - Neither good nor bad. Cubs should finish in the middle of the pack again in the NL East.

Finley vetoes sale of A's

Oakland A's owner Charles O. Finley said Monday organized baseball wants to buy his team and move it to Washington, but he isn't selling.

He charged the plan was part of a scheme by Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn to "run me out of base-

American League President Lee MacPhail, contacted in Delray Beach, Fla., said the proposal "was just a thought of mine" but he had not been authorized to enter into sale discussions and "there is nothing formal under way."

FINLEY SAID, "I have no intentions of moving my ball club. I have no intentions of selling my ball

"The commissioner has had problems in Washington and I have no intention whatsoever of pulling his chestnuts out of the fire."

Finley said the plan to switch the A's from the American to the National League and move them to Washington in 1978 was hatched at the joint major league meeting last December, a session which he did not attend.

He said MacPhail called him last week and discussed the possibility of a sale of the A's to the leagues.

"IT'S TRUE I've spoken with Finley from time to time about his selling the club, but I have no authority from the American League to make him an offer." MacPhail said.

"I talk regularly to Finley, about everything. The possibility of a sale has been mentioned, but I can assure you I have not been authorized to enter sale discussions and thereis nothing formal under way.

"The purchase of his team by the league was just a thought of mine, which I have casually mentioned to the league planning committee during our periodic talks. But we touch on many things during these discussions.

"The Oakland A's belong to Finley. It's his team. He can handle it any way he pleases. Any conversation I've had with him on a sale has been personal."

Kuhn said Monday night that Finley's "most recent allegation against me — this one regarding Washington" - is "just another attempt to draw me into public mud-slinging with him.

"He obviously hopes this will help him in his litigation," said Kuhn. "I don't intend to play that game.

"However, in the interest of accuracy, the fact is that Mr. Finley started trying to sell his club to baseball several years ago and has been continuing that effort ever since, including recently," Kuhn continued. "Whether baseball will entertain his offer, I really can't tell you now."

FINLEY SAID he became aware of the plan when he received the agenda of the next owners' meeting, March 24, from Kuhn.

It lists, first, franchise relocation matters, "which means some club is going to move," and "there will be a realignment into two 13-club major leagues," he said. "It says these were proposed by the commissioner and the league presidents."

Under the plan, he said, the major leagues would buy the A's from Finley and operate the club in Oakland this year. For the 1978 season, the team would be sold to Washington interests and move to the national capiexpenses in canceling the A's lease for the Oakland ball park. The San Francisco Giants would remain the only team in the Bay area and might play part of their home season in Oakland to diminish damages.

FINLEY SAID he was now "beginning to see the real light in Kuhn cancelling the sale of my players last summer as a great way to keep as good a team as he could get to go to Washington.

"Now, I can put two and two together. He is trying to run me out of baseball. Somebody ought to call the great Finley has sued Kuhn for $3.5 million because he voided the sales of Joe Rudi, Vida Blue and Rollie Fingers last June. He said he suspected the proposed plan to buy him out and move the A's as long ago as the start of the trial.

"All he's trying to do is run me out of baseball," Finley said. "When I got into baseball 18 years ago, they told me 'don't rock the boat,' and they've been playing the same tune ever since. And I've been rocking it ever

Concepcion signs 5-year Reds' pact

TAMPA, Fla. — The Cincinnati Reds signed all-star shortstop Dave Concepcion Monday to a five-year contract, longest in the club's history. Cincinnati General Manager Dick Wagner, in making the announcement, would not reveal the terms of the contract, but it is estimated that Concepcion will receive one million dollars over the five-year span.

The Reds still have four unsigned players — Pete Rose, Rawly Eastwick, Gary Nolan and Pat Darcy. The 28-year-old Concepcion, a native of Venezuela, batted .281 for the Reds last year and has been the club's shortstop since 1970. He has started the last two All-Star games and has won Gold Gloves the last three years for his outstanding defensive play. He has a lifetime .272 batting aver-

Concepcion, playing in his first exhibition game Monday, homered in the first inning on his first swing during Cincinnati's 5-0 victory over the Kansas City Royals.

'Trade me,' says Browns' Phipps

CLEVELAND — Cleveland Browns' quarterback Mike Phipps is on the trading block at his own request, it was reported Monday.

Phipps, the Browns' first draft choice eight years ago, had a strong training camp last year and appeared headed for his finest season when he suffered a shoulder injury in the team's first

He was replaced by backup man Brian Sipe, who led the team to a 9-5 turnaround from the worst season in club history, and it appears obvious the team has two starting quarterbacks on its

"I more or less initiated the talks that are going on now between the Browns and other teams," Phipps told the Cleveland Press.

Dolphins, Miami reach agreement

MIAMI - The Miami Dolphins and city commissioners signed a 10-year pact for use of the Orange Bowl Monday, ending a bitter, year-long dispute and immediate threats that owner Joe Robbie would move the franchise out of Miami.

But the contract, approved 5-0 by the commissioners, left Robbie a loophole if he wants to get out.

The agreement calls for the Dolphins to pay $42,000 per game in the coming season and $45,000 per game the next nine years roughly twice what the Dolphins paid under the contract that expired at the end of the 1975 season. The Dolphins will pay $40,000 from an escrow account for home games last season.

A clause allows Robbie to cancel the agreement on three years' notice if a stadium is built within 250 miles of Miami and he wants

He has discussed plans for a new stadium with Broward County commissioners in nearby Fort Lauderdale and said Monday the team would exercise the option if a new stadium is built.

Bucks get past Lakers, 110-106

MILWAUKEE - Six players scored in double figures for Milwaukee Monday night and the Bucks downed the Los Angeles Lakers 110-106 despite 25 points by Kareem Abdul-Jabbar and 21 by Earl Tatum.

Swen Nater scored 10 first quarter points and the Bucks led at the end of the period 29-25. They took the lead with 1:03 left on a dunk by Nater that made it 25-23 and never trailed after that Milwaukee led 56-52 at the half, despite 16 points by Abdul-Jabbar, and increased its lead to as many as 16 points in the third period before the Lakers began a comeback.

Los Angeles narrowed the margin to 101-98 late in the fourth period, but Milwaukee stopped the rally there and won its third game in a row. Brian Winters and Bob Dandridge each had 17 points for the Bucks, Quinn Buckner had 16, Dave Meyers 15 and Nater and Junior Bridgeman 14 each.

Canadiens, Lafleur blank Kings 3-0

MONTREAL - Guy Lafleur, the NHL's leading point-getter, raised his total to 122 points Monday night with a goal and an assist as the Montreal Canadiens blanked the Los Angeles Kings 3-0 behind Ken Dryden's eighth shutout in a nationally-televised

The Canadiens stretched their unbeaten string at home to 30 games while the Kings dropped only their second game in their last 13 contests.

Lafleur set up Jacques Lemaire's power-play goal at 7:09 of the second period to give Montreal a 1-0 lead. Lafleur got his 51st goal at 6:40 of the final session when he took Larry Robinson's pass from behind the King's net. The assist gave Robinson 76 points, a team record for a defenseman.

Montreal rearguard Guy Lapointe fired in his 21st goal at 13:52 of the same period only two seconds after a Los Angeles penalty expired. Dryden, who is now tied with Kings netminder Rogie Vachon for the most shutouts, stopped 25 drives.

Hersey girls defeat Cards

Carrie Stembridge scored 18 points to lead Hersey over Arlington 61-53 in the first round of the Hersey Regional Girls Basketball Tournament Monday

The win advances the Huskies (9-8) to a semifinal match against Buffalo Grove (11-4) today at 8:30 p.m. In the first game of the regional Monday, Dundee tripped Barrington 59-47. Fremd (15-1) will clash with Dundee today at 7 p.m.

After rolling to a 31-18 halftime ments, as Arlington (5-10) pulled within four points during the third quarter. But strong rebounding by Linda Walkowiak and Jodie Stembridge shut off the Cards' rally.

HELGA DANIELS WAS second in scoring for Hersey with 11 points, followed by teammate Walkowiak with 10. Arlington's Laura Sanders had 17, and Val Weidner added 14 more.

With scoring star Jeannine Hahn out with a broken foot, Prospect (1-13) was no match for Rolling Meadedge, Hersey had a few anxious mo- ows (4-11), as the Mustangs won their first round match at the Conant Regional 56-31 in other action Monday.

The Mustangs led 36-14 at halftime and breezed home to advance to today's semifinal contest with Conant (10-5), beginning at 8:30 p.m.

Carol Emerick led the winners with 10 points, followed by Leslie Ahr with nine. Lou Sandstrom and Dina Wilke paced Prospect with six points apiece.

SACRED HEART OF Mary reached the end of its season, losing to Eigin 63-51 at the Conant Regional. Sacred Heart, which advanced to the regional after capturing the Elgin Larkin Sub-Regional last week, finished with an 8-6 record.

Elgin will meet top-seeded Forest View (13-2) at 7 p.m. in the first semifinal match at the Conant Regional to-

At the Maine West Regional, the host Warriors were bumped from further competition by East Leyden, 61-42. Leyden will meet second-seeded Elk Grove today at 8 p.m. in a second-round game.

In the earlier contest at Maine West, Chicago Resurrection whipped Maine East 56-25. Resurrection, the River Grove Sub-Regional winner, will take on top-seeded Maine South today at 8 p.m.

AT THE HIGHLAND Park Regional, Highland Park edged Mundelein, the Mundelein Sub-Regional winner from last week, 41-39. Deerfield crunched Lake Forest 43-30 in the other first-round contest.

Top-seeded Libertyville will play Highland Park at 7 p.m. today, followed by a match between Deerfield and Wheeling (13-6).

The finals of all the regional tournaments will be played Thursday, and the winners will advance to sectionals next week. The girls state tourney is April 1-2 in Bloomington.

BISON EXPRESS. Buffalo Grove's Carol Schlicting (right) charges towards the hoop in a contest earlier this season against Arlington. The Bison will begin regional play today at Hersey in a game beginning at 8:30 p.m.

Harper football players benefit from big season

A record of 7-2 and a victory over a Big 10 school has begun paying dividends for Harper College football

Seven of the sophomores from last year's best-ever Harper team have received scholarships from four year schools, five of them from out-of-

"Our win over Northwestern and the record we had has given us a lot of national exposure," said Harper coach John Eliasik. "We were getting recruited by schools that never came around here before."

AS EXOTIC A port of call as the University of Hawaii wined and dined one Harper player, footing the bill for a trip to the islands. The player, though, turned Hawaii down.

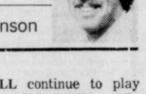

Major football powers such as Missouri, Kansas, the University of Texas-El Paso and New Mexico State all dangled feelers around the Harper Staying close to home will be 6-3, 240-pound All-American offensive lineman Jerry Parker and 6-2, 195-pound linebacker Kevin Kristick.

Parker and Kristick were All-Region IV and All-N4C and both will be playing for Northern Illinois University next year.

Byline report

Charlie Dickinson

PARKER WILL continue to play somewhere in the offensive line while Kristick will make a switch to the defensive secondary.

They will join former Harper place kicker Dave Patterson at NIU.

Steve Long, who turned his back on Hawaii, and Kevin Koppari have opted for Utah State University.

Long is a 6-6, 245-pound defensive tackle who, despite a knee problem, was heavily recruited by several schools. Koppari is 6-3 and weighs 220 pounds. He played mostly defensive end at Harper but will switch to linebacker in college.

DuWayne Mill, Harper's MVP and an All-Region and All-Conference performer, will take his punting and pass catching talents to St. Joseph's College in Rensselaer, Ind.

Butch Allen, Harper's second-leading rusher, will be playing for Southern Colorado while Barry Conatser, an offensive lineman, will be at Bemidji (Minn.) State University.

Eliasik is, of course, delighted with his players' successes and believes it indicates better times ahead for Harper recruiting.

"This is the most players we have placed in four-year schools," he said. "It is satisfying because all these kids had virtually no contact with recruiters coming out of high school."

ELIASIK FEELS the junior colleges have something to offer high school players who are not quite ready to make the big step into four-year college competition.

"A lot of schools will recruit junior college kids because they have had a couple years to mature both physically and emotionally," Eliasik said. "They are proven to a certain extent and it isn't the gamble some high school kids are.

"With our success last year we got more national recognition than we

"These kids," Eliasik said, "were ignored out of high school but they came to Harper, improved as a player, got exposure and then signed with four-year schools."

Five race for runnerup

Cards in badminton lead

by KEITH REINHARD Badminton Editor

Last year Arlington wrapped up the Mid-Suburban League badminton title a day early.

This year the Cardinals appear to have the situation well under control almost a month early.

And so the struggle goes on for runnerup billing in the MSL. While the Redbirds take a bye, a dozen other squads swing into action tonight with at least five of them in serious contention for the circuit's number two PROSPECT, WHICH hosts Palatine in Tuesday's headline event, is one of those teams shooting for the We Try Harder slot. The Pirates are another, as are Forest View, Rolling Meadows and Schaumburg.

Ironically, at this middle stage of the badminton campaign, coach Mary Lou Hundt and her Card outfit have already decisioned every one of those contending teams.

"The hardest part of our league schedule should be behind us now," Mary Lou understated. "That gives us an opportunity to try some new things while preparing for the tournaments

HOW DOES Arlington peg the contenders now that they've seen all of them? "I usually ask my girls to rate the other teams after we've played them," the Card coach continued. "I think they feel it might come down to either Palatine or Rolling Meadows."

Palatine and Meadows pair off exactly one week from today on the Mustang courts. First things first however, it's Elk Grove at Fremd, Buffalo Grove at Wheeling, Hersey at Hoffman Estates, Schaumburg at Forest View and Conant at Rolling Meadows tonight.

Plus, of course, the Pirate-Knight showdown. Both sides are reputed to have excellent singles lineups so the match stands to be a case of power against power.

"I would probably have to say that our strength is in our singles," reports first year Prospect coach Ruthanne Normann. "Our third singles player is still undefeated and our girl at first singles has four years of expe-AT FIRST SINGLES for the Knights is Jean Rezny, the only senior on the squad. Juniors Lisa Young and Jo Obrycki round out the front line at second and third respectively. For Palatine, coached by Kathy Crandall, the singles lineup is paced by junior Mary Munson, whose lone setback in seven tries at the number one position was to Arlington. Junior Mary Vastine (5-2) is at second singles and sophomore Peggy Munson (5-2) is at third. "Yes, we rely on singles to carry the load," notes Kathy, "We're a young team but our doubles players are improving week-by-week."

There is another full slate of MSL contests on Thursday and again on Saturday. Going into this week's competition Arlington had seven wins and 46 points, pursued by Forest View (36 points), Palatine (35), Rolling Meadows (27), Schaumburg (26), Prospect (25), Hersey (18), Wheeling (18), Elk Grove (15), Buffalo Grove (14), Hoffman Estates (13), Conant (11) and Fremd (10).

Hawk trackmen put 2 in nationals

Wil Fieldhouse and Mike Nichol set Harper indoor track records Saturday at the Region IV meet, and both Hawks qualified for the Juco Nationals this weekend in Macomb, Mich.

Fieldhouse was Harper's only winner, pulling away from the rest of the mile field and circuiting the University of Illinois Armory track in 4:22. Fieldhouse, a former Fremd runner and the Mid-Suburban League indoor mile recordholder, also qualified in the 1,000-yard run in 2:19.8 while finishing fifth.

Nichol, meanwhile, high jumped 6-6 for third place in setting a Harper record. No Hawk jumper has ever approached that mark either indoors or out. Nichol, a basketball player until just three weeks ago, attended Conant High School as a freshman before transferring to Cary-Grove.

"FIELDHOUSE WON it easy," pointed out Harper coach Bob Nolan. "It was 4:22 but it could have been faster - he ran the last quarter in Fieldhouse, a transfer from Florida State, will be running in his second national finals. He qualified for the Juco Nationals in cross-country last

He and Nichol will leave for Ma- facilities, we did great. We should do comb on Thursday.

"I'd say both Fieldhouse and Nichol have a good chance to place in the nationals," Nolan said. "Nichol came real close to getting 6-8 and I think if he can go 6-8 he can place."

HARPER SCORED 31 points in the Region IV meet, good enough for sixth place behind winner Lincoln Land. The Hawks finished ahead of area schools Triton, Wright, Morton and Oakton.

"We did really well considering the indoor season has been pretty much of a wipeout," said Nolan. "Considering our limited practice time and even better outdoors.'

Other Harper trackmen who scored were two-miler Tim Blechl, third with a 9:50. Bob Roels, who was third in the shot put with a toss of 44-101/2; and Paul Rizzo, who ran sixth in the 440 with a time of 52.5.

"That was 18 seconds faster than Blechl had ever run before," said Nolan. "And Roels, who primarily throws the discus, had his best indoor effort this season. Also, Curt Long ran a 10:07 in the two-mile, his best ever, and John Fabbrini ran a 4:36 mile."

HARPER's OUTDOOR season begins April 2 at the Wheaton Relays.

Madison gets Class A welcome

MADISON, Ill. - Hundreds of exuberant townspeople welcomed home Madison's first state high school basketball champions with a motorcade through parts of three towns.

Police cars with sirens blaring and lights flashing led the procession of what police estimated at more than 250 cars, station wagons and pickup

Many of the vehicles were decorated with green and white streamers and most of the drivers kept a steady hand on the horn. "Trojans No. 1" was written in soap on scores of car

HUNDREDS OF residents stood on front porches and waved as the noisy parade wound through streets in portions of Madison, Venice and Granite

The motorcade was halted twice when a fire truck carrying the victorious basketball team stalled from over-heating. Both times the parade moved on only after firemen poured water into the truck's radiator.

THE BORN LOSER

Ask Andy

Mirrors used in ancient times by Etruscans

Andy sends the Encyclopaedia Britannica's 1977 Yearbook of Science and the Future to John Spears, 11, of Hartsville, S.C., for his question:

WHO INVENTED THE MIRROR?

A mirror is any smooth surface which reflects more light rays than it absorbs. The more highly polished a mirror is, the more it will reflect. Even a highly polished sheet of clear glass will serve as a mirror, although most rays of light pass through.

Good mirrors today are made of polished glass with a silvery back surface. The condition of being opaque and the smoothness of the surface determine the quality of the reflection the mirror will produce.

The earliest mirrors were used by the Etruscans, Greeks and Romans. We do not know who actually invented the mirror. Metal discs, generally made of bronze, were highly polished and worked quite well during these ancient times.

Coating glass with tin was known in the Middle Ages. There was a guild of glass mirror makers in Germany as early as 1373, although the first commercial production didn't start until the 1500s when the industry developed in Venice, Italy.

Improvement to the mirror business came in France in 1691 when the art of making plate glass was introduced. In 1835 Justus Von Liebig came up with the formula for coating a glass surface with metallic silver. The process was, and still is, called silvering.

In a mirror, the angle between a light ray striking a mirror and the normal (perpendicular) to the mirror is the angle of incidence. The angle between the normal and the ray reflecting off the mirror is the angle of reflection. These two angles are always equal.

There are three kinds of mirrors: flat, concave and convex. A concave mirror is one which has a surface like the inside of a hollow ball. It will reflect a larger or smaller image, depending on the object's distance from it. If the object is further away, the image will appear upside down. Concave mirrors are used in reflecting telescopes.

A convex mirror always shows an image smaller than the object.

Construction of a large astronomical mirror requires precision. The front mirror surface must not deviate from the mathematically perfect paraboloid of revolution by more than one millionth of an inch. The final polishing process may take three to five years. The glass used is a special type of Pyrex which expands only slightly when it is heated.

Andy sends a Student Globe to Deneen Hughes, 11, of Kingston, Ontario, Canada, for her question:

WHAT IS AN EULACHON?

The eulachon is a fish found in the Pacific Ocean off the coast of North America. A member of the smelt family and officially called a Thaleichthys Pacificus, this fish makes delicious

One of the very distinctive side features of the eulachon, however, is it has extremely oily flesh.

Many years ago the fish was widely used for night lighting: the West Coast Indians dried the whole body after it was caught and later tied it to a stick. Then at night the dry, oily fish on a stick was set afire and used as a torch. It is also called the candlefish.

Do you have a question for Ask Andy? Send it on a post card with your name, age and complete address to Ask Andy in care of The Herald, P.O. Box 280, Arlington Heights, Ill., 60006. Entries are open to boys and girls 7 to 17.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE - Here's how to work it: AXYDLBAAXR is LONGFELLOW

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Blamed for 18 deaths

Great Plains dig out after storm

by United Press International

Military helicopters churned over the Great Plains Monday on rescue and airlift missions to help persons marooned by house-deep drifts left by a killer blizzard blamed for at least 18 deaths.

On the ground, highway crews with heavy equipment struggled to reopen drift-clogged highways and side roads. Utility firms put extra crews into the tremendous job of restoring power and telephone service to hard-hit areas.

Heavy rains — as much as three inches in some areas — fell on melting snow in the Northeast, triggering flash floods in some New England and New York communities.

A new round of snow hit the northern Rockies and Pacific Northwest.

OFFICIALS IN most of the blizzardswept states: Colorado, Kansas, Nebraska, South Dakota and Wyoming had no further reports of persons missing in the storm that raged on the western Plains from Thursday

Extension given Stavros to pay $25,000 fine

One-time Wheeling political boss James Stavros has been given until June 30 to pay the $25,000 fine imposed at the time of his 1974 extortion conviction.

U.S. District Judge Hubert Will Monday agreed to grant Stavros the extension after his attorney, Richard A. Devine, said the once self-proclaimed millionaire would pay the fine with funds derived from the sale of condemned property he owns.

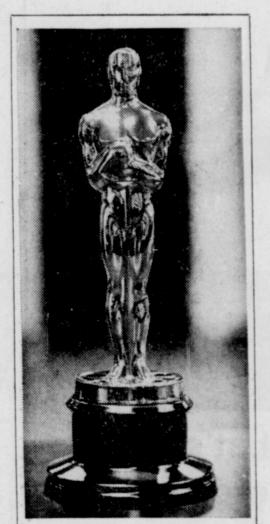

Stavros, who pleaded guilty in 1974 to shaking down Wheeling developers for some $92,000, was to have paid the fine by last Tuesday according to terms set by Will in September 1974.

BUT STAVROS petitioned for the delay, saying he did not have the money and could not make the payment until the sale of certain lands he owns was completed, Devine said.

The former Wheeling Township Democratic committeeman resides at 3705 Whirlaway Dr., Northbrook and also owns a 235-acre farm on Buffalo Grove Road and other lands in the township, but Devine did not say what property is involved in the sale.

Stavros served two years of a fouryear prison sentence before being released on parole last September. Will ordered in 1974 that Stavros pay the fine within six months of his parole release.

Martin B. Lowery, deputy chief of the collections division of the U.S. attorney's office, did not object to Stavros' request for a deadline extenthrough Saturday.

The blizzard took 10 lives in Colorado, 6 in Nebraska, and 1 each in South Dakota and Kansas. Three of the dead were children who froze to death in a farm field near Calhan, Colo.

Air-rescue units of the Military Airlift Command and National Guard outfits flew missions looking for marooned ranch families in distress or stray motorists trapped along unopened roads.

Helicopters from Ellsworth Air Force Base, S.D., Sunday rescued eight women and children — suffering from pneumonia and convulsions — from the Rosebud Indian Reservation in southern South Dakota.

Red distress flags, waving in the snow, alerted airmen to the three women and five infants. They were airlifted to a waiting ambulance and reported in good condition Monday.

BALMY, SPRINGLIKE temperatures moved into the Plains Sunday and Monday. South Dakota highway officials said the warm weather was helping whittle down the snow and open drift-filled roads.

But Civil Defense representative Harold Traver, in Nebraska, said melting occurred so fast that it hampered snow removal.

The Nebraska Civil Defense office said enough information can be gathered by today to determine whether blizzard-stricken western sections of the state will be eligible for federal assistance.

Thousands of northwest Kansas homes remained without electricity. A spokesman for Great Plains Electric Co-op said it would take 10 to 15 days to restore power in Sherman County, County Agricultural Agent Gaines Franks at Amarillo, Tex., Monday said high winds that raked the Texas Panhandle the past two weeks destroyed $10 million to $15 million worth of winter wheat.

HE SAID ABOUT 10 per cent of the area's dryland and irrigated wheat is gone. Farmer Jimmy Summerour of Conlen, Tex., agreed.

"In places it (the wind-blown dust) filled the ditches and covered some fences clear up to the top," Summerour said. "Some cattle got out. Not much of the dryland (wheat) is salvageable. Most of it is pretty well gone."

Overflowing streams closed some roads in New York, Vermont, Maine, New Hampshire and Massachusetts.

A trailer park was evacuated in Milton, N.Y., several families moved out of lowland homes in Waterford, N.Y., and about 25 families were forced from homes at the junction of the Baker and Pemigewasset rivers in New Hampshire. Scores of back roads in Vermont were impassable and many schools called off classes.

We can help...
with a modern,
tested service called
THERMOGRAPHY

Read how to arrange for a complete "Energy Audit" of your own home for only $50.00!

We're just as upset as you are about those plunging temperatures and escalating heating bills. So, we've done something positive about it. Something that is a simple, practical step. Something every homeowner in the Northwest suburbs should look into—immediately.

THERMOGRAPHY—HOW IT WORKS

A handheld infra ray scanning camera, which can spot temperature differences is used to identify heat loss in your home.

Thermography is a tested, safe way to measure variations of hot and cold. It works like an electronic thermometer, showing you precisely where you should concentrate your heat-saving efforts. Thermography lets you enjoy more comfort at less cost. It actually detects heat losses in your home. And heat losses mean wasted dollars. Heat losses mean wasted fuel . . . fuel that is going to cost more and more each year, experts say.

CAN YOU CUT HEATING BILLS 25% - 35%?

If you could identify exactly where your heat losses are occuring, you could take corrective action, right? Things like caulking all the critical (but difficult to see) points. Adding weatherstripping where it is needed. Installing more insulation where it will do the most good. By doing those simple things, you should be able to cut your heating bills up to 25% or 35%. You could eliminate those expensive, uncomfortable drafts and chilly spots that this record-breaking Winter of '77 has produced in even the best-built homes.
